Light to Medium DMS Range

The DMS range of breakers are manufactured as a sole piece made from a fully forged steel rod, sporting the huge advantage of having eliminated the tie rods; the main issue often encountered with traditional breakers. Socomec are the only company worldwide to produce breakers in this way, other breakers are made from casting. Two vulcanized polyurethane shells isolate the Monoblock from the metal case, reducing noise level, vibrations and making them much simpler and economical to service.

All parts are surface treated for longevity; we are certain of the quality and durability that together with Socomec we offer a 10 year warranty on every Monoblock.

The inbuilt energy recovery system reduces RPM, lessening stress on the pump and engine which equals less fuel consumption.

Contatore provide excellent after sale service, working manuals, and eco-friendly grease.
